

The City of Glencoe trusts Nuvera with their IT needs.

City of Glencoe's Challenge

As you can imagine, a city office is made up of several different jobs, functions, departments, and employees. The city of Glencoe knew their previous provider was not offering them the satisfactory Internet and phone service they deserved, so they looked to a company they could trust to handle their IT concerns, Nuvera. The City wanted to bring in IT professionals who knew how to connect their employees and departments, while also keeping important files secure. They contracted with Nuvera to provide them with solutions to their challenges.

“We were looking for an IT provider who could meet our needs, while also providing top-notch customer service. We felt we could trust Nuvera based on their customer service protocols and track record.”

– Dan Ehrke, Assistant City Administrator
